

UI HW6 (Warm-up)

1. My database will let people search Farmer's Markets in NYC.
2. People who want to get fresh, high-quality produce from local markets would use this database. As a culinary-minded college student who likes to cook with vegetables that are in season, I would use this database to plan out my shopping trips to new markets for fresh vegetables.

```
{
  id: "1",
  market_name: "Columbia Greenmarket" borough: "Manhattan"
  image: "https://external-content.duckduckgo.com/iu/?u=https%3A%2F%2Fs3-media0.fl.yelpcdn.com%2Fbphoto%2F2zligjUgwCXQULZ5N3lbtw%2Fo.jpg&f=1&nofb=1&ipt=4a9a2ec06eedd90e610c10ebcd8c69e64c0bf4942151f4cc96f67da74ef7e066&ipt=images",
  "street_address": "Broadway & 114th st"
  "days": "Thursdays and Sundays",
  "year_round": "true",
  "latitude": 40.80714,
  "longitude": -73.96426,
  "vendors_list": ["vegetable guy", "bread person", "jam person", "lavender person"],
  "summary": "Open year-round on Thursdays and Sundays, this market is located on Broadway along the west side of the Columbia campus from 114th street to 116th street and is one block from St Luke's Roosevelt Hospital. It serves a diverse population including university students, faculty and staff, St Luke's Hospital staff, visitors and patients as well as Upper West Side residents. While several of the farmers attend on both Thursday and Sunday, each day has its own distinct character. Thursday's market thrives on the bustle of the work and school day schedule, while Sundays are more laid back and neighbors come out to do serious shopping. Shoppers will find milk and yogurt, fruit, cider, baked goods, preserved fruits and vegetables, eggs, cheese, smoked meats, pickled vegetables, maple syrup, honey, fish, and focaccia topped with locally sourced fruit, vegetables, herbs and cheeses, a lunch time favorite."
}
```

3. The list of vendors will help people like me find the new vegetable vendors.